Citing Books and Other Reference Texts

A References entry for a book or reference text generally requires the following information:

- Last Name, First Initial Middle Initial of Author
- (year of publication)
- Title of the book italicized
- City of publication
- Publisher

Book with One to Seven Authors

- One Author

- Two to Seven Authors: List authors in the order they appear on the original book.
Book with Eight or More Authors

- List first six authors as they were originally listed on the book, . . . last named author.

Book with No Named Author

For a book with no clearly named author, just omit the author and alphabetize the source by the first major word of the title (not counting “A,” “And,” and “The”).

- Title of Book (year of publication). City of publication: Publisher.

- Note: If you cannot find a copyright year, use n.d. (which stands for “no date”) instead.
Article from an Edited Collection

- One to Seven Authors: List authors in the order they appear on the original book.

- Eight or More Authors: List first six authors as originally listed on the book, . . . last named author.

Note: If there is more than one editor, list editors in the order they appear on the book and replace (Ed.) with (Eds.).
Article in a Reference Book

- One Editor

- Two to Seven Editors: List editors in the order they appear on the original reference book.

- Eight or More Editors: List first six authors as originally listed on the reference book, . . . last named author.

Note: If there is more than one editor, list editors in the order they appear on the book and replace (Ed.) with (Eds.).
