Note for those using citation generators:

Citation generators are wonderful, but they are not perfect. You should always compare what a citation generator (such as EasyBib or Academic Search Ultimate) produces, particularly in these three areas:

1. Capitalization: Often, citation generators will capitalize words that don’t need to be capitalized.
2. Italics: Often, citation generators will fail to italicize words such as names of journals/newspapers/magazines and names of databases themselves.
3. Spacing: Often, citation generators will single-space what should be double-spaced.

Just be aware that sometimes YOU need to fix what a citation generator gives you.
