ORPHEUM! SCIENCE IS FUN!

Binh Pham Kim Le
Honor Service Project
Fall 2013

About Orpheum:

- Orpheum is located at 346 North Neil, Champaign, IL 61820.
- The Museum inspires, engages and educates children through exploration of science and the arts.
- The Orpheum serves families, children, schools through exhibits, programs, field trips, special events, and parties.
- The Orpheum's home is a 1914 vaudeville and moving pictures theatre, and is one of the finest examples of adaptive reuse in Illinois.

What did I do/learn at Orpheum??

- I came down to Orpheum on Thursdays.
- I had total 30 hours volunteering there since Fall Semester.
- I enjoyed working with Zoe Stinson-Acting Director, Angela Urban-Volunteer Coordinator and being around with all the toys that are related to science.
- I helped out about promotion, event's preparation, and office work.

We talk about Science

We were at St. Joseph library to talk about Nano Technology to kids and parents.

We talk about Science (Con't)

I was explaining about hydrophobic sands and its use to kids.

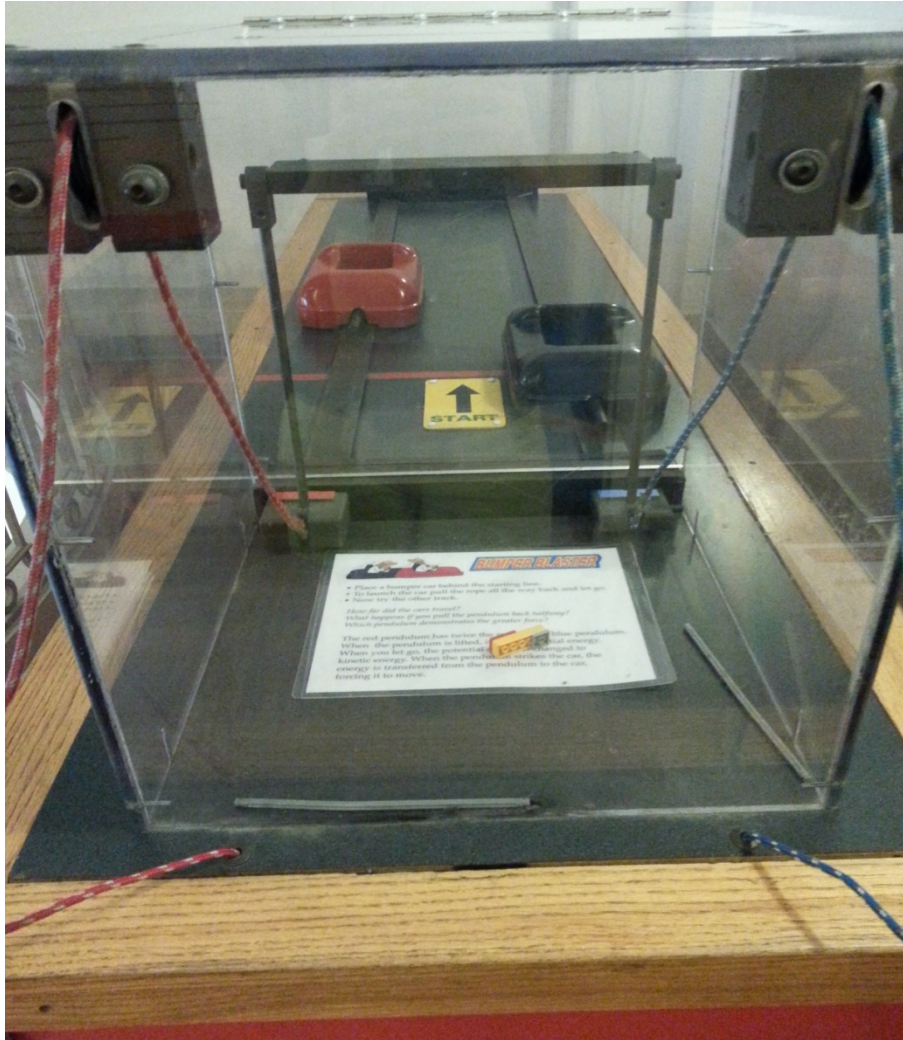

Toys

I didn't quite understand Inertia in PHY 141, but now I do thanks to the Rotor .

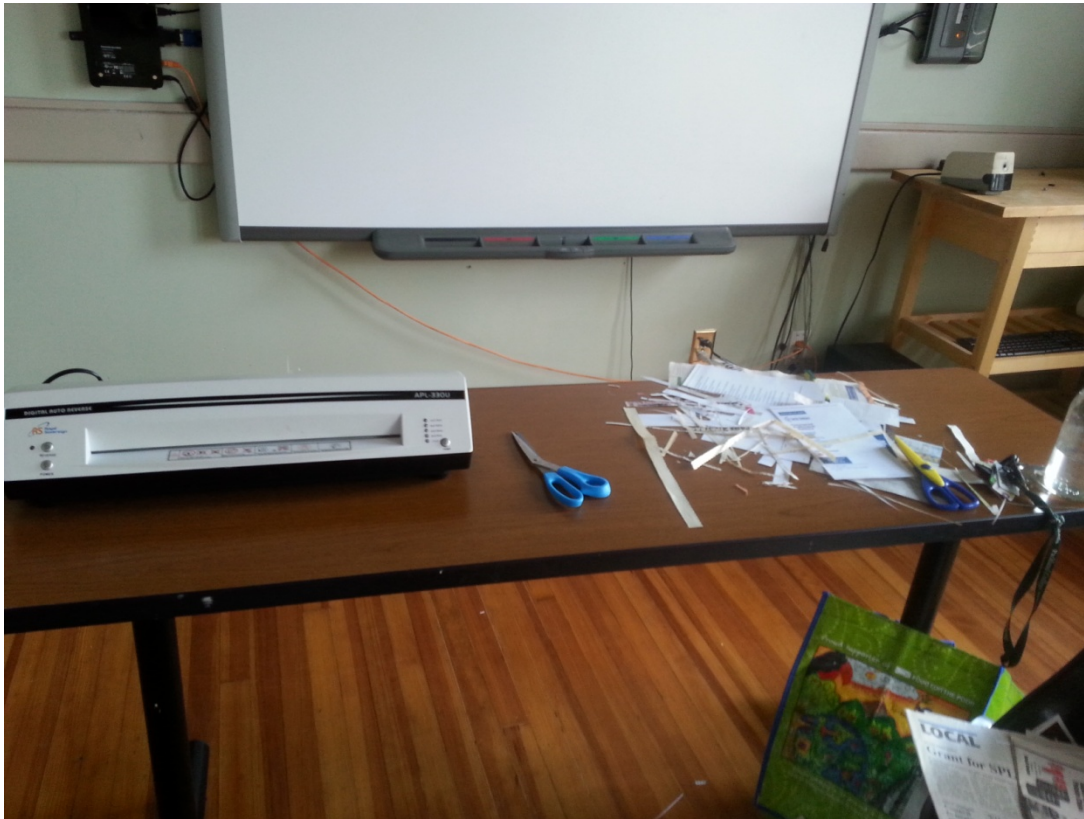

Toys (Con't)

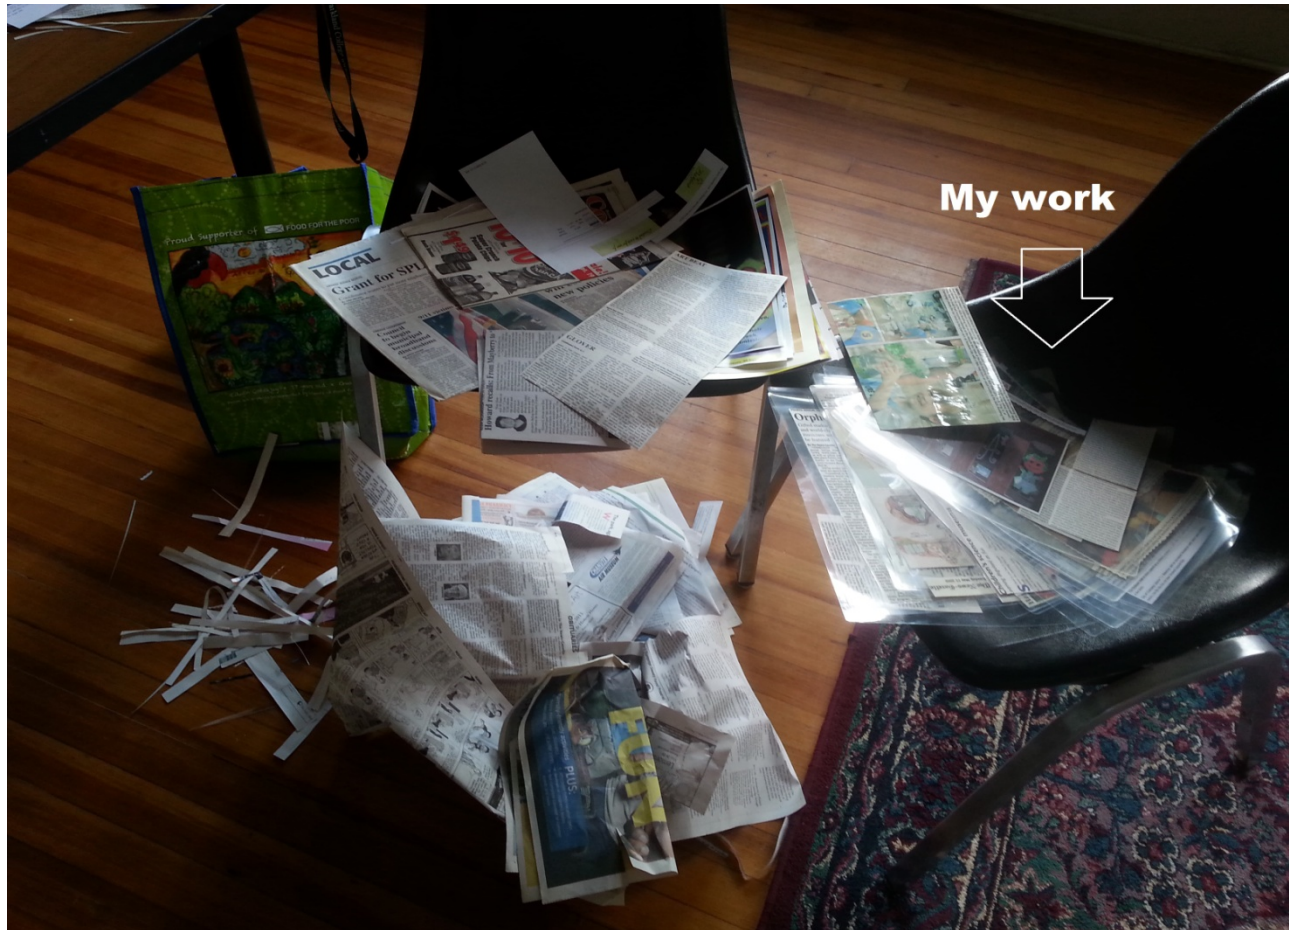

This game set explains Newton laws in a very easy way to understand it.

Learning the History through papers

I laminated the papers about Orpheum. They spread out through the years from 2005 to 2013

Before the events

I helped prepare for events.

Before the events (Con't)

Preparing popcorn with Annie McManus-Vice President (left), and Kristi from UIUC.

Who wouldn't love popcorn and balloons?

Conclusion

- It was a great opportunity for me to volunteer at Orpheum.
- I had so much fun with kids. I got to know a lot of different people in different social level, people from different countries. It enriched my social life and experience.
- I will still be volunteer at the Orpheum after I finished my Honor Service project.
